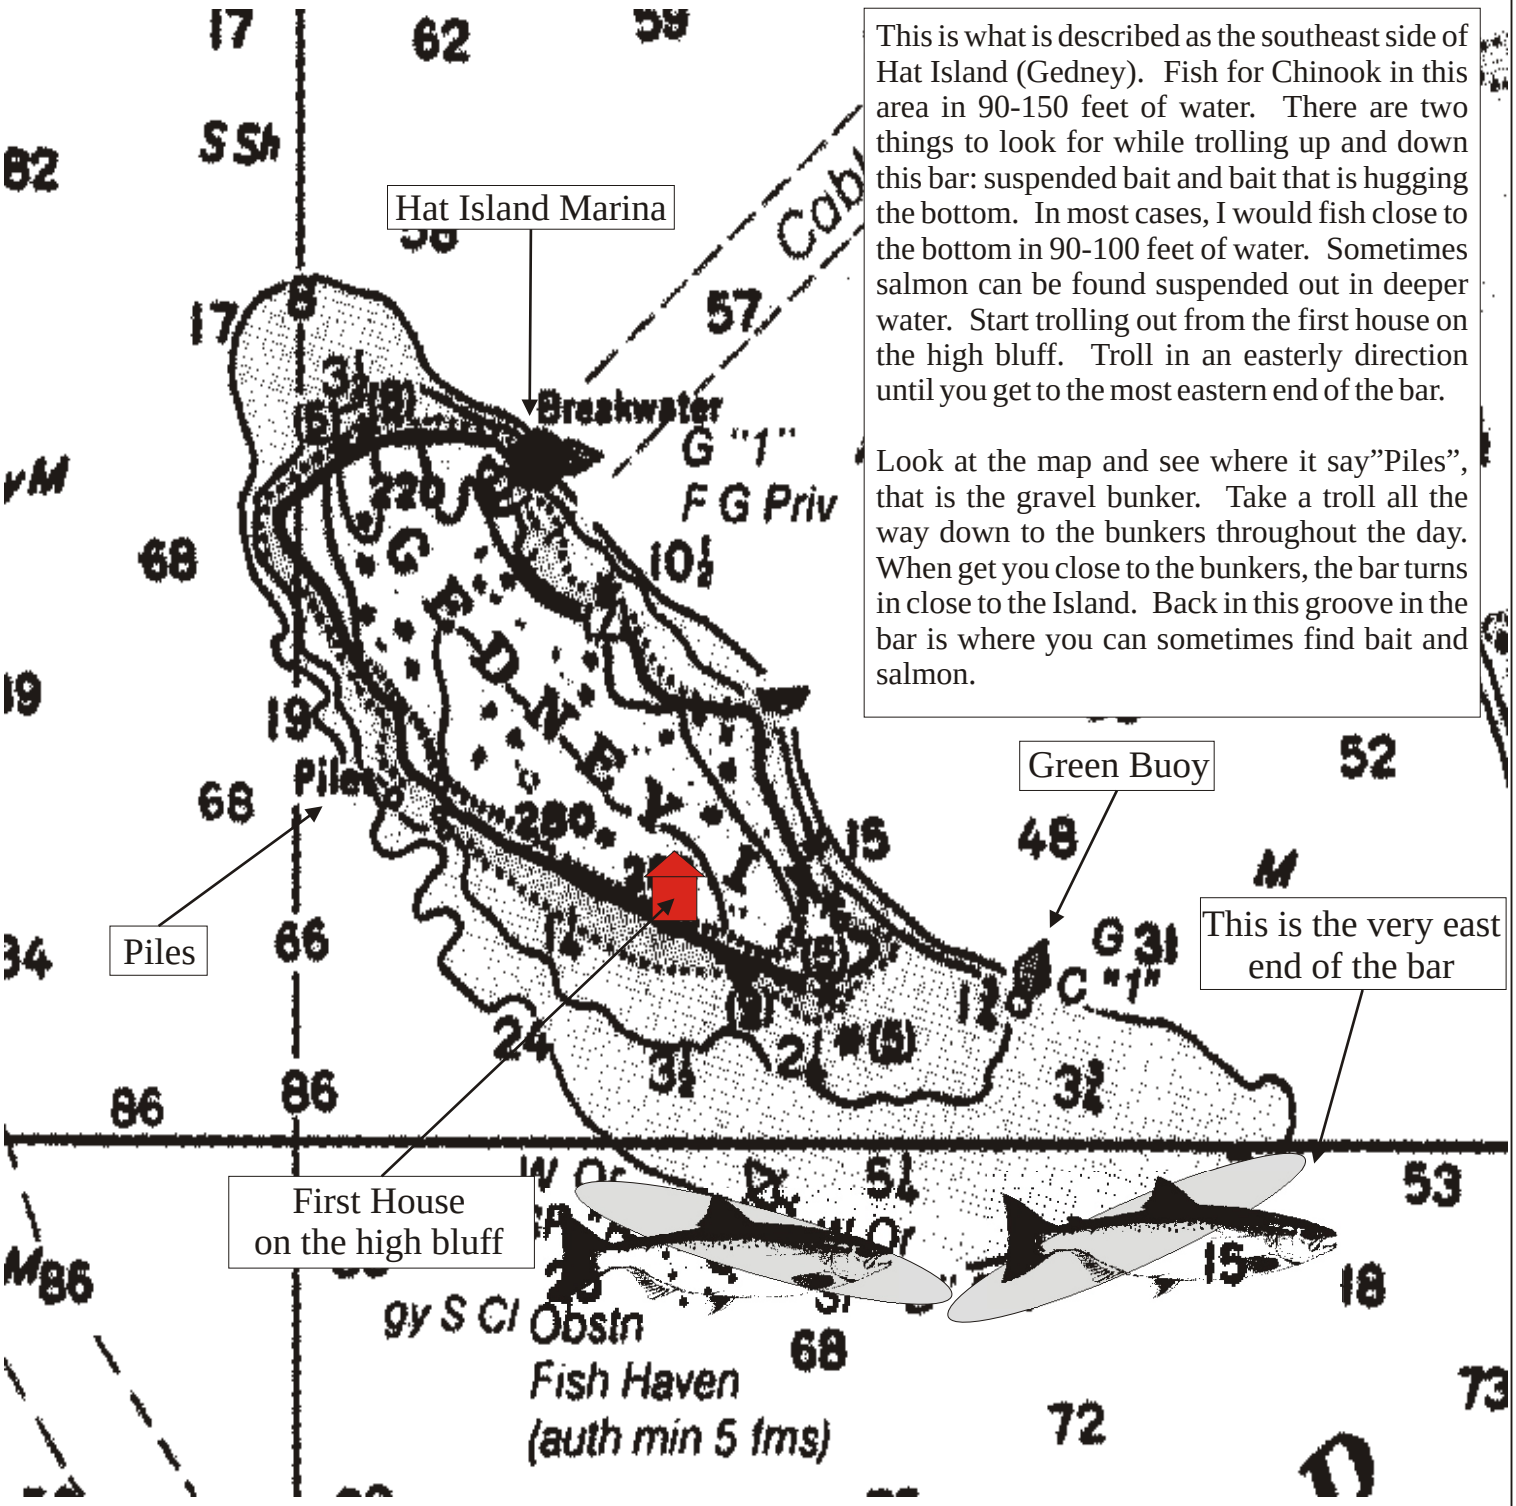
Maps For The Serious Angler



This is what is described as the southeast side of Hat Island (Gedney). Fish for Chinook in this area in 90-150 feet of water. There are two things to look for while trolling up and down this bar: suspended bait and bait that is hugging the bottom. In most cases, I would fish close to the bottom in 90-100 feet of water. Sometimes salmon can be found suspended out in deeper water. Start trolling out from the first house on the high bluff. Troll in an easterly direction until you get to the most eastern end of the bar.

Look at the map and see where it say"Piles", that is the gravel bunker. Take a troll all the way down to the bunkers throughout the day. When get you close to the bunkers, the bar turns in close to the Island. Back in this groove in the bar is where you can sometimes find bait and salmon.
